As an AMANI Birth Teacher or Doula you understand that your primary role is that of educator and empowerment of the expectant family. Your duties may include comfort and emotional support during labor and birth, but do not include medical observation, advice, diagnosis, or treatment. You must ensure that any family seeking doula services understand that doulas are not certified nor qualified to provide primary care for mother nor baby and do not serve to recognize nor treat emergencies that may arise during labor or birth.
